COMPONENTS:

- 10 x photo cards
- 10 x quote cards
- 1 x Answer card

OBJECTIVE OF THE GAME:

The objective of this game is to use photographs to explore how young refugee volunteers in Uganda interpret their volunteering experiences.

SETTING UP THE GAME:

- This game can be played by 2-3 people.
- At the beginning of the game, place the answer sheet card facing down so that players do not see the correct answers until the end of the game.
- Place the Photo Cards in front of you facing up, so that all players can see them clearly.
- Shuffle the Quote Cards and put them in front of you facing down so that the players can't read them.
- Turn over the Quote Cards one at a time and read aloud the quote written on the card.
- Discuss with other players which picture best matches each quote. Place the Quote Card next to the respective Photo Card agreed amongst the group.
- Continue to take turns to reveal the Quote Cards one-by-one, discussing each, and matching them to the photos.
- At the end of the game each photo should have a quote next to it. Feel free to re-arrange the Quote Cards as the game progresses and new quotes emerge.

GAME END:

Once you've assigned a photo to each of the quotes, turn over the Answer Card to see how many you matched correctly. As a follow-on activity, you could think about the following question: If you wanted to capture the meaning of volunteering, what would you take a photograph of?

FEEDBACK & THANKS:

The photos featured on these cards were taken by volunteers participating in the Refugee Youth Volunteering Uganda (RYVU) research. We'd like to thank the following young photographers for permission to use their images: Esther Musafiri, Godson Hakizimana, Irene Tiko, Issa Bagarira, Jean Harabangezi, Milka Nzambi, and Oliver Waro.

If you would like to share your reflections or any feedback about the game (or just say hi to the research team!), please e-mail us at: contact@ryvu.org.

THANK YOU!

QUOTE A

“We all know how many youths are within town ...
Some work as hawkers, others as conductors,
others as drivers, others as cleaners.”

QUOTE B

“Information is power.”

QUOTE C

“This person is doing all of this to do volunteering, this person is not paid. This person is not given anything, just doing this for free,
just using a good heart.”

QUOTE D

“Volunteering is something very important, because you can gain skills for life,
which can help you developing life.”

QUOTE E

“I just took this photo because so many youths were involved... Others just volunteer with a pay, though it's not that much payment. Others just came and pay lesser by helping those ones around.”

QUOTE F

“This is this person’s source of income, according to this person, this is the activity that takes this person’s kids at school, that looks after them, that pays this person’s rent.”

QUOTE G

“A youth looking outside the box to get volunteering activities.”

QUOTE H

“Youth and girls bridging the gender gap.”

QUOTE I

“It is a playground and a ground where many volunteers go and meet and they share ideas against unemployment. Those who have some ideas or a talent in art bring their products and display them for others to see and even share ideas with others. This is something that has changed lives of very many youth around the camp.”

QUOTE J

“This person is trying to instruct or give volunteer training to these people coming there for some health tips... So I got interested in the kind of work this person is doing and I begin wondering how much this person is really paid for that job or how did they even get that job to be doing that.”
